

Paul Overstreet

Equally gifted as both a country vocalist and songwriter, Mississippi native Paul Overstreet has visited the Top 10 more than a dozen times as an artist. He was named NSAI Songwriter of the Year in 1986 and BMI Country Songwriter of the Year in 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990 and 1991. He won Dove Awards from the Gospel Music Association for his songs in 1991 and 1994. "Love Can Build a Bridge" won him a 1991 Grammy for Best Country Song, and his second Grammy is for 1987's "Forever and Ever Amen," the latter of which also won honors from the ACM, CMA and NSAI. "On the Other Hand" was another song that collected ACM, CMA and NSAI trophies. Alison Krauss & Union Station's version of "When You Say Nothing at All" was named the CMA's 1995 Single of the Year.
